Paid Opportunities

It’s that time of year again!! The 2014 AFL-CIO Union Summer internship program will be looking to recruit the best and brightest activists from your college campuses in the next few weeks. The Union Summer internship runs 9 weeks and is a paid internship program that introduces students to the labor union movement. The internship starts with a weeklong orientation and training where interns learn about the history and current state of the American labor movement. Interns will also learn union skill building firsthand. The interns are then assigned to work on various union organizing campaigns with AFL-CIO affiliates.

The work of a U.S. intern could include (but not limited to): working on state legislative battles, talking one-on-one with workers about their jobs, planning and participating in direct actions like marches, and assisting in building relationships with community, labor and religious organizations. Participation in Union Summer is an ideal way for young people to learn about unions and a way for young activists to look into careers in the American Labor Movement.

Union Summer interns must be:
- Flexible and willing to work long hours, nights & weekends
- Adaptable in the face of new challenges and experiences
- Able to work in teams and have excellent communication skills
- Open to working with people of different races, ethnic backgrounds, religious & sexual orientations
- Willing to immerse themselves in an intensive, learning-by-doing experience

US Interns are paid $350 weekly (minus taxes)
Accepted applicants must have housing in the cities where Union Summer sites have been designated.
2014 Union Summer internship dates: June 16 – August 15, 2014
Application Deadline: April 15, 2014

If students are interested in applying now, please apply online to www.aflcio.org/unionsummer.

Division of Information Technology: Program Coordinator – Spring 2014

The George Washington University is seeking juniors, seniors and graduate students for a Rotational Internship Program. This paid internship program provides GW students with an opportunity to receive hands-on work experience while pursuing their degree. The program allows a candidate to spend 6-8 months working on a specific project in one office then rotate to another project for a varied work opportunity. The program also matches each intern with a mentor to aid in their learning and development through their work experience.

Interns who are selected to participate in the Student Internship Rotational Program (SIRP) are expected to work 20 hours per week on average. Scheduling is flexible, based on student schedule and availability, while also considering the normal business hours of the host department. This is a paid internship, with an hourly rate that will be commensurate upon experience and education. The intern will work with GW’s Division of Information Technology’s Project and Portfolio Management Office and Service and Contract Management teams to assist with activities and tasks related to project roadmaps and portfolio planning throughout the IT division and its respective customers. This position will also provide support for the Information Technology Initiatives Committee and disaster and business continuity team. The first rotation engagement period will be 6-8 months. The second rotation will be within a different functional area, one that will match an intern’s interest(s) and/or skillset. Applicants with the ability to commit to a minimum of two rotations are preferred.

Required Qualifications:
• Strong recommendation or reference from a Professor or previous employer
• Preferred commitment of 20 hours per week
• Successful completion of a background, academic and student judicial standing check
• Minimum GPA of 3.0

To apply for this internship opportunity, please email your cover letter, resume, and recommendation to sirp@gwu.edu. Application materials are due on or before Monday, March 24, 2014. An interview process will follow the application due date.

For additional information about the Student Internship Rotational Program, please visit: http://bmag.gwu.edu/sirp

Unlearning Liberty: Campus Censorship and the End of the American Debate
Monday, March 10, 2014, at 6:30 p.m.
Knight Conference Center at the Newseum
555 Pennsylvania Ave., N.W.,
Washington, D.C.

Join the Religious Freedom Center of the Newseum Institute for a provocative and timely discussion about the assault on free speech taking place on campuses throughout the country. Hear from First Amendment lawyer Greg Lukianoff, who has been battling censorship at America’s colleges and universities for over a decade, how intolerance for dissent and debate on today’s campus threatens the freedom of every citizen. A reception and book signing will follow the discussion.

Greg Lukianoff is the president of the Foundation for Individual Rights in Education (FIRE) and the author of “Unlearning Liberty: Campus Censorship and the End of American Debate” (expanded paperback edition releases on March 11). He was the first ever recipient of the Playboy Foundation Freedom of Expression Award and has also received the Ford Hall Forum’s Louis P. and Evelyn Smith First Amendment Award on behalf of FIRE. Lukianoff is a graduate of American University and of Stanford Law School, where he focused on First Amendment and constitutional law.

The program is free, but registration is required. RSVP at http://www.newseum.org/programs/2014/0310-institute/rsvp031014.html

Can’t make it in person? Watch the live stream on newseum.org and join the conversation on Twitter using #unlearningliberty.
POVERTY
The National Conference on Ending Poverty
Presented by A Wider Circle
in partnership with Montgomery County’s Office of Community Partnerships
Silver Spring Civic Building, One Veterans Place, Silver Spring, MD 20910
March 29, 2014, 10:00 a.m. • General Admission: $20 • Student Admission: $10

50 YEARS after declaring a war on poverty, 50 million children and adults in our country are still mired in poverty. Another 60 million live below 200% of the poverty line, in significant need of support with life’s necessities. The good news is we know how to end poverty for one individual and one family after another. We can ensure that every American has a chance at the freedom and independence that is at the core of our nation, but that poverty denies.

The National Conference on Ending Poverty will highlight innovative, on-the-ground approaches to ending poverty and connect attendees with concrete ways to engage.

Featuring the following outstanding speakers and leaders:

- Dave Phillips, Co-Founder, Cincinnati Works
- Scott Miller, CEO, Circles USA
- Dr. Pamela Loprest, Senior Fellow, Urban Institute
- Aaron Bartley, Executive Director, PUSH Buffalo
- Anne Peyer & Nicholas Mozer, Cornerstone Montgomery
- Cubby Graham, School Partnerships, charity: water
- Dr. Sheryl Bissett-Chapman, Ralph Bell, & Jaselyn Morgan, National Center for Children and Families
- Jeffrey Faulkner, President, Ways to Work & Tonya Jackson Smallwood, President and CEO, Family Matters of Greater Washington
- Uma Ahluwalia, Director, Montgomery County Department of Health & Human Services, and Ronnie Galvin, Executive Director, Impact Silver Spring
- Hans Riemer, Councilmember, Montgomery County Council, Pamela Luckett, Member, Montgomery Community Action Board, and Shawn McMahon, Acting President and CEO, Wider Opportunities for Women

Opening address by Isaiah (Ike) Leggett, Montgomery County Executive
Remarks by Steve Silverman, Montgomery County Director of Economic Development
Closing panel featuring our neighbors living in poverty today

The conference will be moderated by Washington Post columnist Dana Milbank

Trans-Pacific Student Contest 2014: Win a Trip to New York City

Carnegie Council for Ethics in International Affairs announces its second Trans-Pacific Student Contest, a pioneering exercise in U.S.-Asia collaboration. The contest is part of Ethics for a Connected World, a three-year global education project to mark the Council's 2014 Centennial. Winners will receive a trip to New York City.

The contest will be conducted via Carnegie Council's online Global Ethics Network, a social media platform for people across the world who are committed to exploring the role of ethics in international affairs through joint projects, ongoing dialogues, and the creation of collaborative multimedia resources.

ESSAY OR VIDEO TOPIC: What are shared or different values between your and your contest partner's home country? Please illustrate these values using current or historical developments from each country.

CONTEST REQUIREMENTS:

Each entry must be a collaboration between a student who is a citizen of the United States and a student who is a citizen of one of the following: Brunei, Cambodia, China (including Hong Kong and Macau), East Timor, Indonesia, Japan, Laos, Malaysia, Mongolia, Myanmar, North Korea, Philippines, South Korea, Singapore, Taiwan, Thailand, or Vietnam.

[FIND A PARTNER: If you need help finding a student partner for the contest, post an inquiry on the Trans-Pacific Contest Matchmaker page, or answer one of the existing requests.]

The contest is open to undergraduate and postgraduate students only, and entries must be in English. The entry can be either an essay or a video. Essays should be written in op-ed style (not academic, footnoted papers) with a length of 2,000-3,000 words. Videos should not exceed 10 minutes.

CONTEST PRIZE: Contest winners will receive a free trip to New York City in October 2014, to participate in Carnegie Council's 100th Anniversary Celebration and Fourth Global Ethics Network Annual Meeting.

SBP 2014

April 1 – April 4, 2014, UCDC Center, Washington DC, USA

Registration is now open! The 2014 International Conference on Social Computing, Behavioral-Cultural Modeling, and Prediction (SBP) is a multidisciplinary conference with a selective single paper track and poster session. SBP also invites a small number of high quality tutorials and nationally recognized keynote speakers.

The SBP conference provides a forum for researchers and practitioners from academia, industry, and government agencies to exchange ideas on current challenges in social computing, behavioral modeling and prediction, and on state-of-the-art methods and best practices being adopted to tackle these challenges. Interactive events at the conference are designed to promote cross-disciplinary contact.

Social Computing harnesses the power of computational methods to study social behavior within a social context. Behavioral Cultural modeling refers to representing behavior and culture in the abstract, and is a convenient and powerful way to conduct virtual experiments and scenario analysis. Both social computing and behavioral cultural modeling are techniques designed to achieve a better understanding of complex behaviors, patterns, and associated outcomes of interest. Moreover, these approaches are inherently interdisciplinary; subsystems and system components exist at multiple levels of analysis (i.e., "cells to societies") and across multiple disciplines, from engineering and the computational sciences to the social and health sciences.

STUDENT TRAVEL FELLOWSHIPS AVAILABLE

The SBP Conference will provide a limited number of student registration/travel awards to assist students to attend the conference. The awards will cover conference registration via reimbursement for local students. For non-local students, the award will cover reimbursement of up to $1000 for registration, travel, and lodging expenses. To apply for the award, students must:

1. Submit your request online using the Travel Scholarship Application Form available at http://sbp-conference.org/awards/
2. Ask a university faculty member to submit a simple letter of support confirming the applicant’s student status to sbp14sta@gmail.com

Students do not have to be an author of a paper or a winner of the challenge program of SBP 2014 in order to apply.

Early Bird Deadline: March 15, 2014
Regular Deadline: March 31, 2014
For more information, visit: http://sbp-conference.org/

The Washington Center is excited to announce summer 2014 internship opportunities available through the Federal Diversity Internship Initiative (previously the Competitive Government Program). If interested, students should apply by March 3, 2014 for paid positions with one of several federal agencies.

Selected students will intern for 10 weeks at offices within the Federal Aviation Administration, Department of Veterans Affairs, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, Environmental Protection Agency, National Archives and Records Administration or a similar agency. Positions may be available in Washington, D.C. and several regional locations.

Many available positions call for candidates from the fields of aviation, business, human resources, computer science, healthcare, statistics, communication, library science, environmental science, public administration and engineering - so applications from students pursuing these majors are encouraged. Additionally, TWC encourages students from many diverse backgrounds to apply - including women, minorities and students with disabilities.

Accepted interns will receive significant financial assistance, including a stipend, fully-furnished housing, and a travel allowance. Students will not be responsible for housing, program, or application fees.

For more information on the Federal Diversity Internship Initiative please visit: www.twc.edu/federal. Applications can be submitted at: http://portal.e.twc.edu/.

Ready for Hillary is currently accepting applications for Spring 2014, Summer 2014, and Winter 2014 interns. We are looking for highly motivated people to play an integral role in our organization. Positions are available for part-time or full-time interns in Ready for Hillary's national office in Rosslyn, Virginia. Interns are critical to accomplishing the work that needs to be done to encourage Hillary to run for president in 2016. This is a unique opportunity for hardworking, passionate Hillary supporters to help build Ready for Hillary from the ground up.

SUMMER SENATE INTERNSHIP POSITIONS
OFFICE OF U.S. SENATOR EDWARD J. MARKEY

Internship positions are available between May and August of 2014 in the Washington, DC and Massachusetts offices of Senator Edward Markey (D-Massachusetts) for college and graduate students who are committed, hard-working individuals interested in gaining hands-on experience in public service and government work.

In the more than 38 years that Senator Markey has served in the U.S. Congress, he has been an extremely active legislator, championing environmental issues and consumer rights. He has fought to preserve the Arctic Wildlife Refuge, to pass an Energy bill that improved fuel efficiency standards for motor vehicles, helping to protect our planet from global warming. He is currently the Lead Co-Chair of the Senate Climate Change Clearinghouse and served as the Chair of the Select Committee on Energy Independence and Global Warming in the U.S. House of Representatives. Senator Markey has also been a national leader in telecommunications and Internet policy, introducing legislation to preserve net neutrality and working to break up telecommunications monopolies. He has been one of the foremost opponents of nuclear proliferation. Senator Markey is a strong advocate of strengthening investments in scientific and medical research, international development, homeland security issues, and protecting consumer privacy.

Job Description for Washington, DC office: Interns are assigned to work with staff members based on issue interests or expertise. The office seeks interns to work on a variety of issues, particularly Foreign Policy, Environmental Policy, Health Policy and Global Health, Telecommunications, and Education, but we welcome interns of all issue interests who possess a strong passion for public service. Prospective interns will find detailed information on current initiatives by visiting Senator Markey’s web site: http://www.markey.senate.gov/.

Job Description for Boston, MA office: Interns work with staff members to handle intake of new constituent casework issues, contact federal agencies on behalf of constituents and relay responses, complete research projects, answer phone calls, direct visitors and assist staff with administrative and organizational tasks as they arise.

Commitment & Credit: During the summer, full-time internships are available for a minimum period of eight weeks. Applicants are encouraged to submit their applications as soon as possible as spaces are filled on a rolling basis. School credit is possible for all internships if arranged and approved by the intern’s respective college or university.

Application Procedure: To apply, forward a cover letter specifying your issue interest and availability, a resume (with GPA and ACT or SAT scores), contact information for three references, and a 2-3 page writing sample to Intern_Markey@markey.senate.gov by March 23, 2014.

Website: To learn more about Senator Markey’s work, visit his website at markey.senate.gov

YOU + DEMOCRACY + SUMMER + THIS BUS.

The Democracy Fellows program is an intensive, two month-long summer bootcamp that trains the next generation of progressive young leaders to create change in their communities. Fellows work to build a more hands-on democracy, developing their leadership skills while learning and applying the principles of grassroots organizing and advocacy.

It’s a full time program, designed for hardworking young folks, college students, and recent college grads from all over the place who are passionate about civic engagement, democracy, and politics. Fellows will leave the program with the tools and skills to advocate for the issues they are passionate about, organize others to take action, and lead in their communities.

The program’s got three goals:

- Leaders for the long-term. Gain invaluable leadership skills, and then flex those new muscles up and down the Front Range of Colorado.
- Engagement that matters. Conduct on-the-ground grassroots work to impact top-level policies and make a lasting impact on Colorado’s landscape.
- Democracy for the win. Do the heavy lifting to create a more hands-on democracy that works for everyone.

Our summer 2014 program runs from June 9th-August 8th, and is based in Denver, Colorado. Financial stipends are available for fellows. The early decision application deadline is March 25th, and the final deadline is April 25th.

Interested in working at The White House?

The White House Office of National Drug Control Policy, a component in the Executive Office of the President, seeks interns in three offices for Summer 2014. All resumes and cover letters due by April 1, 2014.

OFFICE OF INTERGOVERNMENTAL & PUBLIC LIAISON (OIPL)  This office works closely with national, State, local and tribal leaders, law enforcement and substance abuse organizations to provide strategic outreach to further the Administration’s policies, priorities and objectives in addressing drug policy.

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS (OLA)  This office works to advance the Administration’s drug policy with the Congress through outreach to Members of Congress, involvement in Congressional hearings and the development of legislative strategies for bills and issues.

OFFICE OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS (OPA)  This office shapes ONDCP’s public message by writing speeches, talking points and other materials in support of the Director and Deputy Director; manages ONDCP’s relationship with the press; represents ONDCP through official online channels and maintains the office’s social media presence.

An ideal candidate would begin in May 2014 and serve with the White House through the end of the summer; the Office is open to continuing the internship into the Fall Semester as well.

Please send cover letters and resumes, as well as any questions, to Jacqueline Hackett at JHackett@ondcp.eop.gov by April 1, 2014. Clearly identify which position you are applying for (OIPL, OLA or OPA) when submitting your materials.
