NEW POSTING!!
REMINDER: Summer 2016 KACIF APPLICATION DEADLINE: April 1
The deadline for students to apply for the GW Knowledge in Action Career Internship Fund (KACIF) is in just 10 DAYS! The application period for Summer 2016 will close on Friday, April 1, 2016, at 8:00am EST.

Interested students can visit the KACIF website – go.gwu.edu/internfund - to review information, including eligibility requirements and application instructions. Students with further questions may be referred to gwkacif@gwu.edu, and are encouraged to follow KACIF at @GWInternFund #GWKACIF on Twitter.

After graduation, how will you launch a high-impact career in Washington, DC?

NEW POSTING!!
Historically, students in the District of Columbia have not had access to an equitable education that adequately prepares them for college and a career. DC Teaching Fellows trains recent college graduates and talented professionals to become exceptional, certified teachers. Because of the high stakes for DC students, our rigorous training program expects a tremendous amount of our new teachers. Our fast-paced program focuses on the essential skills that teachers need most to start strong. Teachers will repeatedly practice foundational classroom management and instructional techniques, receive direct feedback from skilled coaches, and must pass an evaluation in order to be eligible to start teaching in the fall.

Do you have what it takes to join this elite group of educators? Apply here – our application deadline is March 28th!

We have a political data internship opportunity for the summer as well as a political technology internship opportunity. Here are the links to apply:

American Cancer Society Cancer Action Network has a paid internship. Here is a direct link to the job description and application website
NEW POSTING!!
Make a difference on issues that matter this summer with the Fund for the Public Interest!

What are you planning to do with your summer? Do you want to make a real difference, working to protect civil rights? Do you want to gain real-world experience and pick up valuable skills? Do you want to make good money?

Apply for a job with the Fund this summer, and you could get all of that and more. We’re a national, non-profit organization that builds the people power for America’s leading environmental and social change organizations.

We’re hiring in cities across the country this summer to raise money and get thousands of people to take action. You’ll make a real difference on important issues. It’s hard to believe, but you risk being fired or losing your home in 28 states for being gay and 31 states for being transgender. That is why we need to pass federal legislation that will end discrimination!

You’ll gain real-world experience and learn valuable skills. Making change happen isn’t easy, but history has shown time and again that when we build enough people power we can win. But to do that we need people who have the skills and leadership ability to get things done. And that’s what you’ll learn with the Fund.

We have a great training program. Training starts the first day, and it continues throughout your time on staff. You will have the opportunity to learn how to lead a team, run news conferences, all while developing your public speaking skills, raising money and motivating people to get involved and take action. Skills that will be valuable, no matter what kind of job you want in the future.

And, you’ll make good money.

Many people are faced with a tough choice for how to spend their summer. Do I earn money by waiting tables, painting houses or making lattes, or do I take that unpaid internship so I can get real-world experience, or work on something I care about. You don’t have to make that choice.

You can make $4,500-$6,500 this summer while doing something you actually believe in. All while gaining the skills and experience you need to help you succeed in the future.

This is not your typical summer job, but if you’re looking for a great experience where you can make a real difference, and work with some great people along the way, then apply for a summer job with The Fund.

Info sessions:
March 29: 4pm in Marvin Center Room 538
March 30: 2pm and 4pm in Marvin Center Room 538
March 31: 2pm and 4pm in Marvin Center Room 538
To apply, please visit www.SummerJobsForGoodCauses.org or call 1-800-753-2784.

No Labels, a fast-growing citizens movement focused on ending political gridlock, is searching for such students to provide them with unique leadership opportunities. No Labels is made up of Democrats, Republicans, and Independents who are united by a commitment to a new politics of problem solving. No Labels working to put partisan agendas aside for the good of our country -- something all of elected officials in Washington, DC should be doing, but aren't.

The 2016 elections give us a chance to change that. As you know, college students are fully and vocally engaged in this year's presidential race. But the surest way for them to be real change agents is to get involved with No Labels.

Currently, No Labels has 100 active college chapters across the country. That's where you come in.

Please think about students who might like to become No Labels campus leaders. Ask them to contact our National College Coordinators, Evan Quinnell evan@nolabels.org and Will Layden will.layden@nolabels.org, for more details and answers to any questions they may have.

JDA FRONTLINE™
We make things happen.

JDA Frontline, a fully integrated public affairs company, is looking for dynamic and motivated students interested in gaining hands-on experience from a group of strategic communications professionals.

Overview
JDA interns work side-by-side with a team that is focused on the evolution of the media environment, public opinion and policy-maker viewpoints, as it plans and executes public policy and issue management campaigns. As an intern, you will be exposed to an ever-growing arsenal of public affairs tools. Interns learn directly from their experience assisting with public affairs, marketing and media activities and developing the skills necessary for an exciting career in public affairs. Course credit is available depending on curriculum requirements.

Duties
JDA interns assist with activities such as media monitoring, drafting and distributing press releases, client research, campaign development, strategic planning and media relations.

Requirements:
Qualified candidates will meet the following requirements:

- Must be a full time college student
- Willing to commit to a weekly schedule
- Must possess excellent written, verbal and creative thinking skills
- Must be self motivated and ready to contribute to a team environment

Interested candidates should send their resume, cover letter, and available writing samples to Isabel Rollison by email (rollison@jdafrontline.com).

To learn more about JDA Frontline visit www.jdafrontline.com.
The White House Office of National Drug Control Policy, a component in the Executive Office of the President, seeks interns in four offices for Summer 2016. All resumes and cover letters received by April 1, 2016 will have priority.

Applicants will be considered for all four opportunities, but are welcome to identify preferences.

OFFICE OF INTERGOVERNMENTAL & PUBLIC LIAISON (OIPL) This office works closely with national, State, local and tribal leaders, law enforcement and substance abuse organizations to provide strategic outreach to further the Administration’s policies, priorities and objectives in addressing drug policy.

OFFICE OF LEGISLATIVE AFFAIRS (OLA) This office works to advance the Administration’s drug policy with the Congress through outreach to Members of Congress, involvement in Congressional hearings and the development of legislative strategies for bills and issues.

OFFICE OF PUBLIC AFFAIRS (OPA) This office shapes ONDCP’s public message by writing speeches, talking points and other materials in support of the Director and Deputy Director; manages ONDCP’s relationship with the press; represents ONDCP through official online channels and maintains the office’s social media presence.

OFFICE OF POLICY (POLICY) This office coordinates and oversees the implementation of the National Drug Control Strategy concerning emerging and cross cutting issues including prescription drug and medical consequences as well as marijuana and synthetic drugs.

Eligibility

In order to be an eligible applicant you must meet the following requirements:

- be 18 years of age or older at the time at which application is submitted;
- be a U.S. citizen;
- be currently enrolled in a degree-seeking program; and
- submit a complete application.

Accreditation

If a student would like to utilize the Internship for college credit, accreditation is at the discretion of the student’s college or university. The ONDCP Personnel Office will assist you in providing appropriate information as requested by colleges or universities. Arrangements for accreditation by any educational institute should be made before the student begins employment.

Background Investigation and Drug Testing

If selected for placement within the Office of National Drug Control Policy, the student will be asked to complete paperwork as part of a standard security investigation, in order to determine access privileges to the Executive Office of the President complex. The paperwork requires that the student provide extensive personal information about themselves and their family. It is important that all information and answers to questions be truthful and comprehensive in answering such questions. Applicants must submit to urinalysis, in order to screen and confirm no illegal drug use. A negative drug test result is required for appointment.

An ideal candidate would begin in May or June and serve with the White House through the end of the summer; the Office is open to continuing the internship into the Fall semester as well. Please send cover letters and resumes, as well as any questions, to FN-ONDCP-internship@ondcp.eop.gov; priority will be given to resumes received by APRIL 1st. Due to the high number of applications received, we will not be able to respond to all inquiries.
I am the intern coordinator in Congresswoman Lujan Grisham’s office and we are looking for interns to start in our office immediately until the end of the Spring semester. We are open to part time, whatever hours the interns can manage, especially Fridays.

Interns would assist the staff with drafting constituent correspondent, attending briefings and writing memos for staff on those briefings, compiling daily press clips, conducting tours of the Capitol, sorting the mail, answering the phones, staffing the front office, etc.

It would be a terrific opportunity for students interested in government to see life on the Hill and gain valuable professional experience in politics. Interested students should email Elya directly at elya.taichman@mail.house.gov with their resume, or call our office at 202-225-6316 and ask for Elya.

At the Grosvenor Literary Agency we help writers turn great ideas into great books. We are excited to announce that we are actively seeking interns for our Summer 2016 Internship Program. Ideal candidates will possess a broad range of knowledge, be intellectually curious across a diverse range of subjects, and enjoy critiquing and analyzing nonfiction proposals and fiction manuscripts. Successful books start with a story that needs to be told and we want you to be a part of finding those stories. Interns will scout for emerging authors across a wide range of media including blogs, newspapers, and other periodicals. A keen eye for good storytelling is essential. Interns will be expected to work 5-10 hours per week remotely and meet at our metro accessible office in Bethesda, Maryland for one hour each week.

This internship provides the unique opportunity to see some of the earliest stages of writing from our accomplished clients and to offer feedback. We view the entire writing process as intensely collaborative, so a willingness to offer criticism and suggest changes is crucial to the success of our interns. Agency clients include nationally prominent writers, New York Times bestselling authors, and Pulitzer Prize-winners, among them Stephen Coonts, Eleanor Clift, Susan McDougal, Elizabeth Pryor, Aaron Miller, Curtis Wilkie, and Nina Burleigh.

Before becoming an agent, Deborah worked in book publishing as an acquisitions editor, her best known acquisition being The Hunt for Red October by Tom Clancy. Agency areas of representation include fiction and nonfiction with a strong emphasis on narrative nonfiction, history, adventure, politics, current and foreign affairs, memoir, the environment, the Middle East, the military, science, and the American South.

Please send resume and cover letter to Deborah Grosvenor, dgc@grosvenorlit.com.
We are honored to invite your students to intern at the 2016 Color of Wealth Summit to be held on April 20–22, 2016 at the U.S. Capitol Complex in Washington, DC. The theme of the Summit is “The Inclusion Revolution: Race, Economic Mobility, and the Future of America.”

The 2016 Color of Wealth Summit will bring together a diverse group of policy advocates, researchers, experts, government officials, and community supporters—the nations’ leading minds on wealth building in communities of color—to focus on innovative policies to address income and wealth disparities, especially with regard to business ownership, entrepreneurship, and community development.

The 2016 Color of Wealth Summit is organized by the Closing the Racial Wealth Gap Initiative, an effort designed to inform the national economic debate with diverse perspectives and policy solutions to create a more inclusive and equitable future for all Americans. The Initiative is managed by the Center for Global Policy Solutions and the Insight Center for Community Economic Development, with generous support from the Ford Foundation.

Potential interns should send their resume to info@globalpolicysolutions.com. If you have questions, do not hesitate to call our office at 202-265-5111 or to email Simona Combi at simona@globalpolicysolutions.org for assistance.
Upcoming Events/Announcements

On Friday, April 1 and Saturday, April 2, GW DATA will be hosting a Hackathon sponsored by the French Embassy in the US. Participants will be divided into two groups: one conducting analysis of the Franco-US relationship through trade (with a focus on wine), and the second producing a wine-pairing application that recommends particular wines to a user given their preferences.

In order for the Hackathon to be successful, we need students with knowledge of French culture, wine, and cuisine to help us develop a useful app. With this in mind, we would be enthralled to have Francophiles in the PolySci department attend our event. As part of the award we received from the French embassy, participants will be granted admission to attend a French Embassy sponsored reception that includes presentation of our final product (and a possible wine tasting). Details on the reception are forthcoming.

We ask interested students to see this signup form for more information, and urge students to fill it out to be able to participate.

The Center for National Security Law announces its 24th National Security Law Institute to be held June 5-17, 2016, at the University of Virginia School of Law. Please share this unique educational opportunity to study the field of national security law in depth with those in your organization you believe will find the Institute of value.

The Institute was specifically designed to provide government attorneys and professors of law and related disciplines with both an overview of the field and updates on contemporary developments. This highly intensive, two-week program brings to Charlottesville some of the nation’s leading authorities from academia and government service to address more than 40 important topics of national security law. Classes address both theoretical and practical topics ranging from the origins of war and its prevention to national security legal issues involving international and domestic terrorism, cyber threats, immigration, and intelligence activities. Certain timely and controversial topics will be addressed through debates, including the recent nuclear agreement with Iran and the need for new congressional authorization for the use of military force against ISIS.

From the very first year the large majority of Institute participants have been government lawyers working in the national security field. Government attorneys from every U.S. federal department and agency with major national security responsibilities and foreign governments on six continents have attended the Institute. Institute graduates have later served as Assistant Secretary of Homeland Security, Legal Counsel to the Chairman of Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Deputy Legal Adviser to the National Security Council. Other Institute graduates now serve as Director of the Duke Law School Center for Law, Ethics and National Security, and as Director of the Robert S. Strauss Center for International Security and Law at the University of Texas at Austin. One former participant commented, “Without question, a learning environment second to none was created. This is a world-class program that simply has no peer…”

Portions of the costs of the Institute are covered by grants from non-profit foundations to the University of Virginia Law School Foundation, but there is a tuition fee of $1950.00 that helps cover textbooks, lodging, and other operational expenses. Participants are responsible for their transportation to and from Charlottesville and for most evening meals during the Institute, and other personal expenses. The full program, topics list, application, and additional information are available on the Center’s website at http://www.virginia.edu/cnsl/nsli.html. The deadline for applications is April 15, 2016.

FDD's annual Washington Forum is taking place on April 13. The conference will take place at the Mayflower Hotel.

We have a great lineup again this year (the growing list of speaker is available here), and we’re expecting another day of stimulating policy conversations. This year’s conference – National Security in the Next Administration: Can America Change Course? – will feature important national security discussions that will be at the forefront of the next administration’s foreign policy agenda.

For students who are looking to get into government or the broader policy community, this conference will provide them with unique opportunities to network with some of the leading thinkers and practitioners in foreign policy

Are you able to join us? Kindly note, advance RSVP is required.

If you have any questions, please feel free to be in touch with my colleague Allie Tenenbaum at allie@defenddemocracy.org. She is also cc’ed on this email.

WHAT

In April 2016, more than 100 organizations representing a diverse array of movements and hundreds of thousands of people are coming together to demand a democracy that works for all of us. Join us as we converge upon Washington, D.C. for an array of actions, including demonstrations, concerts, teach-ins, a rally, lobbying, and more – all in support of a democracy in which votes are not denied and money doesn’t buy policy. This will mark an unprecedented coming together of historically separate communities and reform proposals. Together we will build a nation that is truly of, by and for the people.

WHY

American democracy is premised on the fundamental tenet of “one person, one vote,” but since the very beginning, we’ve had to fight for every voice to be heard and every vote to be counted. Today an array of barriers are keeping regular Americans shut out of the political process, from restrictive voting laws suppressing the voting rights of people of color, students, and low-income Americans, to a campaign finance landscape that allows big money to increasingly shape elections and the policymaking process. On both voting rights and money in politics, Congress has solutions in front of them, but has so far failed to pass them into law. It’s time for us to come together and claim a democracy where every voice is heard and every vote counts equally.

THE PLAN

From April 16-18, join us for three days of protest, education, music and cultural exchange in Washington, D.C. Here’s the plan:

- Saturday, April 16 – Teach, Learn, Transform: Saturday will feature teach-ins and workshops by powerful leaders from around the country who will inspire us as we build a movement to fight back against the attacks on democracy. We’ll have a cultural hub where people can gather to create art and inspire change. Saturday night will feature a large event to bring us together in the lead up to Sunday’s Rally for Democracy.

- Sunday, April 17 – Rally for Democracy: Join thousands of people in a march and rally at the U.S. Capitol, where we’ll mobilize in mass to call for solutions that protect the people’s right to vote and prevent our voices from being drowned out by big money.

- Monday, April 18 – Congress of Conscience Day of Action: Join activists on Capitol Hill for a day of advocacy and lobbying to encourage our representatives to champion critical voting rights and money in politics reform measures. Advocates from around the country will meet with elected officials and their staff in support of legislation to: restore the protections of the Voting Rights Act; modernize voter registration and ensure equal access to voting for all; overturn Supreme Court decisions like Citizens United so we can get big money out of politics; and empower small donors in our democracy.

GET INVOLVED

As an individual or an organization, there are many ways to get involved, and we need your voice in this movement. Visit http://democracyawakening.org for more information, or contact info@democracyawakening.org.
