NEW POSTING!!
We have some openings for folks who are interested in politics, statistics, and technology. Please pass along to your students as appropriate (both undergraduate and graduate students are welcome to apply).

ABOUT US: Analyst Institute runs randomized controlled experiments to find out what really works in political and social justice campaigns. We keep a low profile, but we work with all the big name groups in the progressive ecosystem: labor unions, environmental groups, racial justice organizers, LGBT rights advocates, and more from local and state-based groups all the way up to Presidential campaigns.

ABOUT THE JOB: We have a few openings on our analytics team, which analyzes all of the experiments that we run and builds the tools to do our work. As a member of the Analytics team, you can expect to be involved in AI's many fields of research. You will

- Prepare and analyze experiments with a direct impact on the success of campaigns.
- Work with nearly 10 years of past experimental results to draw broad lessons for the progressive community, and help communicate the results to decision makers.
- Build the tools and software to make our work faster, cheaper, and better.

LOGISTICS
We have openings at junior and senior levels, both full-time and part-time. We are looking for folks who can start no later than August 1, 2016; earlier starts are preferred.

If you have questions, please send them to Annie at awang@analystinstitute.org.
The law firm of Buckley Sandler LLP offers an outstanding opportunity for both attorneys and staff to pursue a challenging and rewarding career. We are pleased to announce the Paralegal Law School Bonus Program, which will provide up to $45,000 of bonus opportunity for entry level, law school-bound employees who successfully complete two years of paralegal service at the Firm, and who ultimately receive an offer to join the Firm as an associate. At the successful completion of two years of paralegal employment, a law school-bound paralegal in good standing with the Firm will be eligible to receive a $15,000 bonus toward the cost of law school. The second bonus of $15,000 toward the cost of law school will be awarded if the program participant successfully completes a 1L summer associateship and then receives an offer to return as a 2L summer associate. After the successful completion of the 2L summer associateship, if the Firm makes an offer of employment as an associate and the participant accepts and commits to return to the Firm after graduation, the Firm will pay a final additional $15,000 bonus.

The Firm is currently recruiting for a full-time, entry-level paralegal who will be eligible for the Paralegal Law School Bonus Program. This position is resident in our Washington, DC office. Under the direction of the Paralegal Manager, the paralegal is responsible for organizing and maintaining client files, correspondence, and legal documents, as well as assisting with document collection, organization, analysis, and production. The paralegal is also responsible for preparing and disseminating document compilations, managing case-document databases, conducting legal research, and handling all aspects of routine case management. Candidates must have excellent attention to detail, and strong computer skills. The ideal candidate possesses strong written and verbal communication skills and excellent time management and organizational skills. Candidates must be capable of juggling multiple assignments. Additionally, the ideal candidate can produce consistent, high quality work, with minimal supervision.

Buckley Sandler LLP is strongly committed to diversity. The Firm’s commitment is rooted in the belief that each individual’s unique background contributes a distinct and valuable perspective in our working environment, enriching the day-to-day experience of our professionals, and enabling us to better serve our clients. Buckley Sandler strives to ensure broad-based diversity within the Firm by focusing on recruiting, retaining, and promoting professionals with diverse backgrounds including, but not limited to, diversity of race, ethnicity, age, gender, gender identity, religion, sexual orientation, and physical ability.

All applicants must be currently enrolled in an undergraduate program with an expected graduation date of Spring/Summer of 2016. Candidates must show consistent excellence throughout their undergraduate education, as illustrated in overall GPA. Candidates must have flexibility to work additional hours, weekends and/or holidays as needed. Starting base salary for this position is $44,000 plus overtime as required, and includes a comprehensive benefits package. Interested and qualified applicants should send a resume, transcript and cover letter to adminjobs@buckleysandler.com referencing “2016 Paralegal” in the subject header.
Description
The Community, State and National Affairs (CSNA) team is a key contributor to AARP’s mission of social change for Americans 50+ and their families. CSNA drives social change through our advocacy work by giving our members a voice—at the federal, state and community levels—on issues important to them such as Financial Resilience, Health Security, and Personal Fulfillment.

As part of CSNA, the Campaign Outreach team is responsible for development and implementation of messaging for AARP’s national and multi-state advocacy campaigns: Caregiving, Financial Security, Fraud Watch, Utilities and Medicaid Expansion. This includes earned, paid, and social media materials and collateral.

The Campaign Outreach Communications Intern works closely with Campaign Outreach senior advisors and advisors on specific, ongoing as well as special communication projects to support the Campaigns.

RESPONSIBILITIES
Provides assistance to the Campaign Outreach team, focusing on communication projects to advance key issues:

- For the Caregiving Campaign, conduct interviews with family caregivers and write their profiles and/or stories for use with media and as part of advocacy campaigns; track submissions to I Heart Caregivers website; research story placement opportunities.
- Write and edit Campaign materials for earned media and grassroots activities (Campaigns include: Caregiving, Financial Security, Fraud Watch Network, Medicaid Expansion, and Utilities).
- Assist with internal communications for the Campaigns.
- Compile Campaign communication reports.
- Assist onsite at Campaigns events in D.C. and with social media for the Campaigns, as necessary.

QUALIFICATIONS

- Self-motivated and able to work independently as well as part of a team.
- Strong writing skills, for multiple Communication channels including earned media, websites, and social.
- Ability to work under tight deadlines at times and thrive in a fast-paced environment.
- Currently enrolled in an accredited college or university as graduate student, with a minimum GPA of 3.0

To apply, please send resume and cover letter to Phume@aarp.org.
Would you like to work at the German Parliament?

The German Bundestag invites you, in cooperation with the Freie Universität Berlin, Humboldt-Universität Berlin, and Technische Universität Berlin, to apply for an International Parliamentary Scholarship (IPS) to spend five months in Berlin. The IPS program is aimed at highly qualified young men and women who will return home after the program with the determination to play an active and responsible role in shaping their countries’ democratic future. NEW POSTING!!

Washington, D.C. – Congressman Raúl M. Grijalva is currently accepting applications for fall 2016 internships in Washington, D.C. and his various Southern Arizona district offices. The deadline to apply for these positions is July 25th

In Washington
In the D.C. Congressional Office, interns work closely with legislative and press staff, conduct legislative outreach and research, answer office phones, distribute mail, communicate with constituents, and may have the opportunity to assist with activities in the U.S. House Natural Resources Committee. In the Natural Resources Committee, interns assist committee staff with administrative support, conducting legislative research, compiling data, and drafting correspondence. In addition, interns in both offices may attend committee hearings, briefings, and meetings.

Preference is given to students and individuals from Arizona’s 3rd Congressional District, although all qualified applicants are carefully considered. Interns are unpaid and are responsible for lodging and transportation. Applicants are highly encouraged to explore scholarship opportunities that may be offered through their respective institutions or by other programs.

Anyone interested in working in the D.C. Congressional office should submit a cover letter, resume, and a one-page writing sample to Cristina Villa, Rep. Grijalva’s Internship Coordinator, at Cristina.Villa@mail.house.gov. Those seeking to apply directly with the U.S. Natural Resources Committee should indicate this in their application.

In Tucson, Somerton & Avondale
Interns at district offices help staff provide constituent services to residents of the Third Congressional District. Interns also perform administrative tasks and may be asked to work on special projects for public outreach, events and other needs of the office. Internships for the Tucson, Somerton, and Avondale offices are available at the beginning of each semester. There is no hard deadline, but earlier applications may be given priority.

Tucson District Office – Submit an application form, cover letter, resume, and a short writing sample to Alexandra Martinez at Alexandra.Martinez@mail.house.gov.

Somerton District Office – Submit an application form, cover letter, resume, and a short writing sample to Martha Garcia at Martha.Garcia@mail.house.gov.

Avondale District Office – Submit an application form, cover letter, resume and a short writing sample to Jennifer Papworth at Jennifer.Papworth@mail.house.gov.

Internship application deadlines and program dates:
Application Deadline for Fall: July 25, 2016

Internship Program Dates:
Summer: June – August
Fall: September - December
Advanced Network Strategies is a boutique Democratic campaign fundraising firm, located on Capitol Hill, specializing in contributions from interest groups. The firm's twelve clients cover a wide range of knowledge, expertise, and geography. Its client roster currently boasts 12 Members of Congress including Mike Thompson (CA), Bennie Thompson (MS), Collin Peterson (MN), John Larson (CT), Emanuel Cleaver (MO), Hank Johnson (GA), Jim Cooper (TN), Robin Kelly (IL), Michelle Lujan Grisham (NM), Marcia Fudge (OH) and Stacey Plaskett (USVI). While specializing in fundraising here in Washington, DC, ANS also handles its clients' events across the country.

Job Description

An internship at Advanced Network Strategies provides hands-on and in-depth exposure to the political process in Washington, DC for students interested in a career in politics. Interns will interact with Members of Congress, lobbyists, and Congressional staff on a regular basis. While the job does include some data entry, the vast majority of our interns' responsibilities involve direct interaction with our clients and potential contributors. Interns will be responsible for planning and executing fundraisers, conducting research on potential donors, staffing Members of Congress, as well as soliciting contributions from interest groups and individuals. Additionally, the firm consists of only two full-time employees, making our interns a valuable and necessary part of the office. This is an unpaid internship.

Job Qualifications

The ideal candidate would be well-versed in current events (e.g. read a newspaper daily), have excellent phone presence, be able to multi-task in a fast-paced environment, be responsive and decisive. Because our interns spend so much of their time interacting with Members and their staffs, candidates must be mature, professional, and a quick-study.

To Apply

To apply, please send a copy of your resume to Kevin Cameron (anstrategies.assoc2@gmail.com).
Internship Opportunities in the White House Office of Management and Budget Director's Office

The White House Office of Management and Budget’s (OMB) Director’s Office is pleased to offer opportunities for spring 2016 internships. Interns will work with the Director’s front office and other senior leadership teams. Current undergraduate students may apply for these unpaid internships.

Responsibilities

- Assist OMB senior leadership on budget, management and regulatory initiatives
- Prepare daily briefing materials for OMB’s senior leadership
- Coordinate meeting and event logistics
- Manage incoming inquiries from government agencies, White House offices and outside entities
- Assist with correspondence preparation and management
- Provide general office support
- Special projects as assigned

Qualifications: Qualified candidates should have a strong interest in the budget process/economic policy, public policy, and government. Strong interpersonal, organizational and communication skills are required. Experience handling multiple tasks and working under tight deadlines is also necessary. Ideal candidates will have a strong interest in learning about a range of executive level agencies, policy areas and current issues.

Academic Credit: Internships are only offered as student work-study programs and are not for compensation. Students accepted for an internship may earn academic credit while working in our office. Information on academic credit programs can be obtained from school placement offices.

Requirements: Applicants must be United States citizens. Please note that participation is contingent upon the satisfactory completion of a background check and drug testing.

Applicants should send a cover letter and resume to: Shavonna Corbin-Johnson scorbin-johnson@omb.eop.gov. Applications are due by 5pm on Friday, April 29, 2016. Select candidates will be contacted for an interview.

Survey Design and Data Analysis
Graduate Certificate Program

GW’s Survey Design and Data Analysis graduate certificate program is one of only a few programs of its kind in the nation geared toward working professionals across many disciplines. Students acquire expertise to manage all phases of the survey process in corporate, association, or government agency settings. In addition to teaching skills needed for today’s changing survey research field, the program prepares students for further graduate study.

Survey Design and Data Analysis is part of the university’s renowned Department of Statistics, the first department of its kind in the country. Located in the heart of the nation’s capital, nearby government agencies and private companies employ a number of graduates and generate a high level of statistical activities and internship opportunities. The department boasts a strong record of statistical education and research, an internationally acclaimed faculty, and highly successful alumni.

Program Highlights
• Curriculum builds skills in sampling and designing surveys, collection and analyzing data, and critically analyzing public opinion
• Classes held on weekday evenings, designed for working professionals
• Convenient location at the Alexandria Graduate Education Center, near the King Street Metro
• Four-course program (12 credits) can be completed as quickly as two semesters

Curriculum
• STAT 6233 Questionnaire Design
• STAT 6234 Statistical Computing Packages for Survey Research
• STAT 6236 Applied Sampling Techniques for Survey Research
• STAT 6238 Survey Management

Apply Now
Applications are processed on a rolling basis, but it is recommended you apply by the fall deadline of August 1st or the Spring deadline of December 1st. No GRE or MAT scores are required; however, if you have not used statistics recently, we recommend taking a course in statistics prior to entering the program. Two recommendations are required along with all prior academic records from all colleges and universities attended. A statement of purpose and current résumé or curriculum vita are also required for admission into the graduate certificate program.

What About Us? A State of the Millennial Policy Forum – Tuesday, April 26

What obstacles are young Americans facing? What key initiatives and reforms would remove the barriers that are hindering success?

Millennials are plagued by high debt, low wages, and often are worse-off than previous generations. But while the problems we face are colossal, the opportunities are endless when we unite to make America a better place for our generation and generations to come.

Generation Opportunity and the George Washington University’s Graduate School of Political Management along with Generation Progress and Rock the Vote want to open up the floor to those who are affected most by these barriers to opportunity – Millennials. Join us in an open dialogue with Sen. Cory Gardner (R-CO) and representatives from our organizations to discuss issues that impact YOU.

Topics to be discussed include, but are certainly not limited to:

- Working to make higher education more affordable and available to all
- Fixing the broken American Criminal Justice System
- Securing opportunities for our future

Lite food and beverages will be served at the pre-event reception at 7:00 PM and the program will begin promptly at 7:30 PM.

Congress, Presidents, and American Politics: 50 Years of Writings and Reflections

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27, at 7:00 p.m.
William G. McGowan Theater
Presented in Partnership with the US Association of Former Members of Congress

Recently awarded the Presidential Medal of Freedom, former member of Congress Lee Hamilton reflects on Congress and the Presidency and the lessons to be learned from years past. When he joined the Congress in 1965 as a U.S. Representative from southern Indiana, he began writing commentaries for his constituents describing his experiences, impressions, and developing views of what was right and wrong in American politics. For this conversation he will be joined by his Republican colleague, Ray LaHood, also a former Member of Congress as well as a recent author on American politics—Seeking Bipartisanship: My Life in Politics. After over 30 years in elected office, LaHood became President Obama’s first Secretary of Transportation. They will be interviewed by Tom Edsall, New York Times columnist. Book signings follow the program.
